

How to Certify That You're Job-Ready

GET AMT ALLIED HEALTHCARE CREDENTIALS

Who is AMT?

AMT is a not-for-profit certification agency and professional membership association offering students the credentials, often required for employment, in 12 medical, dental, and laboratory fields. AMT is trusted by employers because AMT's realistic and practical assessments ensure certificants are job-ready. Stand out in the interview process with an AMT certification.

Steps to Get Certified with AMT

1. Apply

- ▶ Check the eligibility requirements at americanmedtech.org
- ▶ Apply online via the education route and submit education documentation
- ▶ Connect your application to your school, if applicable

2. Prepare

- ▶ Utilize AMT's practice exams, online review courses, or exam content outline
- ▶ Get The AMT Edge, a free tool, that will help you prepare through interactive activities and tips, and peer networking

3. Sit for Exam

- ▶ Schedule your exam date and location online; at your school, at a Pearson VUE site, or via Live Remote Proctoring (LRP) on a personal computer
- ▶ Results are sent to AMT within 48 hours; retakes are permitted after 45 days

4. CONGRATULATIONS!

- ▶ Earning your certification means you are now an AMT member
- ▶ Display your credentials and a digital badge alongside your name in all professional communications
- ▶ Share your accomplishment on social media

Why Allied Healthcare Students Choose to Certify with AMT

Employers prefer AMT certificants for their clinical experience and job readiness. Students stand out during the interview process with an AMT certification.

AMT membership! Once certified, you are a member of the diverse AMT community. Benefits include the AMT Job Center, discounted CEs, award winning Pulse magazine, newsletters, networking with state and local societies, online communities, Annual Meeting and more.

AMT is well known in the healthcare community as a certification association that maintains its quality, integrity and the reputation of your career credentials.

AMT Certifications

AMT offers allied health certification in the medical, laboratory and dental professions. AMT's membership provides varied perspectives that broaden our members' knowledge.

Medical and Dental

- Registered Medical Assistant (RMA)
- Registered Phlebotomy Technician (RPT)
- Patient Care Technician (PCT)
- Certified Medical Administrative Specialist (CMAS)
- Registered Dental Assistant (RDA)
- Dental Assisting Radiography (DAR)

Laboratory

- Medical Laboratory Scientist (MLS)
- Medical Laboratory Technician (MLT)
- Molecular Diagnostics Technologist (MDT)
- Registered Phlebotomy Technician (RPT)
- Certified Medical Laboratory Assistant (CMLA)
- Certified Laboratory Consultant (CLC)

Health Education

- Allied Health Instructor (AHI)

Get Started Today!

American Medical Technologists
10700 W. Higgins Rd., Suite 150, Rosemont, IL 60018
847-823-5169 | americanmedtech.org

AMT
American Medical Technologists
Certifying Excellence in Allied Health